Students learn to identify, handle cyber crime

INDORE: In a bid to make schoolchildren aware of cyber crime, Police Radio Training School (PRTS), Indore, organised a workshop under its campaign 'Sandesh' at Atomic Energy School of Raja Ramanna Centre for Advanced Technology in the city. As many as 350 students and staff participated in the workshop. PRTS director IG Varun Kapoor explained the students how they could be a part of cyber crime unknowingly, either as a victim or a perpetrator, and how they could protect themselves. He also spoke about the working of police in cyber crimes by citing examples. PRTS deputy superintendent of police Sudeep Goenka told the students on maintaining confidentiality of passwords, protecting themselves against cyber bullying, stalking and more.
